Gentlemen:

STATINTL

On 11 May the [redacted] will be moved into its new manufacturing facility with twice the floor space of its present building. We hope you will visit us the first time you are in the area. Our new address is:

[redacted]
STATINTL

It is because of the opportunities you and our other fine customers have given us through the years to fabricate for your requirements precision measuring comparators and other refined scientific instruments that it is possible for us to move into expanded facilities. We now will be in a position to give more prompt service as we increase our highly trained and skilled work force. We also plan to have some of our precision instruments available for your inspection now that we will have room to display them.

If you can visit us, you will find our new plant only a few miles from the old one. We shall look forward to hearing from you at our new address where your inquiries will receive our very prompt attention.

STATINTL

Very sincerely yours,
